CIBC FirstCaribbean helps Living Water Community with Christmas hampers

Port of Spain, 7 December 2021 - Living Water Community continues to help the underprivileged during the Christmas season, with the hope of bringing some cheer to families in need.

Before the Covid-19 pandemic, it was the tradition for Jenny Jennings to drive the Living Waters bus to City Gate to pick up families invited to share in a special Christmas lunch. “So that they can have some joy, at least for one day,” Jennings said.

Now with limited congregation, the plan is to ensure the families could still enjoy Christmas. This time, LWC team is preparing special Christmas hampers so that these families can have a special day to celebrate.

CIBC First Caribbean has stepped in to support this effort by making a financial donation. At the bank’s Maraval offices on December 6, managing director of the Trinidad Operating Company Anthony Seeraj presented the cheque to Jennings.

“We know this is a rough time for many. So, we hope this donation will assist in the Living Water Community’s efforts to help those who are really in need. It’s Christmas, after all. They deserve to celebrate as well,” Seeraj said.

Jennings said the hampers for the families will include all the ingredients to make their Christmas lunch. The distribution is strictly by registration, based on a database which LWC has developed.
